RE: Rambler Ridership Analysis

Through August, the Rambler's 2024 ridership has reached 81% of pre-Covid (2019) ridership numbers, which is higher than both the national and regional average. According to the American Public Transportation Association (APTA)'s Policy Brief on 2024's first quarter public transportation ridership, the average weekly ridership recovery in 2024 fluctuated between 73% and 79% of 2019 numbers when compared to the same week. SEPTA's highest reported ridership recovery month so far was June 2024, which reached 75% of pre-Covid numbers.

Ridership increased steadily from 2021-2023 (see below chart). Through August, 2024's ridership is 16% higher than 2023's ridership over the same period:

An analysis of the ridership numbers indicate that, in 2024, ridership is consistent across the days of the week. Of the 5,169 riders so far in 2024, the breakdown is as follows:

- Monday: 836
- Tuesday: 814
- Wednesday: 946
- Thursday: 912
- Friday: 811
- Saturday: 850

The most popular stops in 2024 are: (Embark/disembark)

- Lafayette Valley Forge Apartments (898/767)
- Valley Forge Towers 2000 Building (684/641)
- Wegmans (483/552)
- Giant at Henderson Square (490/387)
- King of Prussia Plaza – JC Penney Transit Center (392/482)
- Walmart (359/398)

The following stops are the least frequently used: (Embark/disembark)

- Dartmouth and Cambridge (0/0)
- Roberts Elementary (2/4)
- Anderson and Henderson (5/2)
- Anderson and Dartmouth (13/0)
- Valley Forge Shopping Center (4/13)
- Heuser Park (7/11)

A large percentage of riders are using the Rambler to access shopping centers, medical appointments, and recreational activities.

Public transportation is an investment that has a 5-to-1 economic return, and an average of 87% of trips nationwide directly benefit the local economy (APTA, 2023).
